Wayne State University’s College of Education invites applications for one or more Graduate Research Assistant (GRA) positions in the Instructional Technology Program, beginning Fall, 2016. The responsibilities for each GRA are to work with Instructional Technology faculty on research projects and online course design and development. This is a half-time position and involves 20 hours per week of service. Compensation is tuition (10 credit hours in Fall and Winter, 2 credit hours spring/summer), graduate health and dental insurance, and stipends estimated to be $17,145 for the 2016-2017 academic year. Selected GRAs are NOT allowed to have any other full-/half-time jobs or employment during the term of contract.

Qualifications:

Full-time students admitted to the Ph.D. program in Instructional Technology.

Eligible to work in the USA.

Demonstrated achievement in a graduate program and excellent writing skills are required. Preference is for an individual with the following competencies:

- Successful experience in academic research and scholarly writing
- Ability to assist faculty with research and publication, which may include, but is not limited to the following: literature search and review, data collection, databases, data analysis, identify, analyze and synthesize empirical research
- Assist in development of online courses, including research on online teaching and learning, evaluation, and faculty support

Candidates should submit: (A) a letter of application that addresses your research interests and competencies, professional experiences, leadership capability, future career plans, and skills in Instructional Technology and qualifications for the GRA position; (B) a current vita, (C) a scholarly writing sample, and (D) a list of three or more references and their contact information (addresses, e-mail addresses and phone numbers).

Submit applications via email to: tspannaus@wayne.edu and ke.zhang@wayne.edu

Please include your email address in your application packet so that we may acknowledge receipt of your materials. Review of applications will begin immediately and the search will continue until the positions are filled.

Wayne State University is a premier institution of higher education offering more than 350 academic programs through 14 schools and colleges to more than 33,000 students in metropolitan Detroit.

WSU is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.