2015-2016 Academic Year

The Division of Kinesiology Health and Sport Studies (KHS) is in the continual process of reviewing programs and courses to best service its student base and provide them with the skills necessary to positively impact local and global communities in their future employment. KHS is utilizing the university assessment process each semester to gather data to ensure that our students are meeting the stated learning outcomes for courses. This data is then reviewed and utilized to inform course and program changes to ensure current and future progress towards student success.
